Safari Books Online

The Safari Books Online Advantage

O'Reilly Media and the Pearson Technology Group are respected throughout the world as leading publishers. Safari Tech Books Online is the only resource to give you access to new material from these two publishers, along with Addison-Wesley, Que, Sams, CiscoPress, and Peachpit Press.

- Customized—subscriptions are tailored to meet the needs of your institution and you pick which books make up your collection.
- A range of topics are covered—from databases to desktop publishing, and mark-up languages to multi-media, as well as management, marketing, and finance.
- Current titles—Safari Books Online subscriptions are always current and always relevant. You can even swap your books every 30 days to ensure users can access the latest titles.
- Save money—offer your users a broader collection of books for a fraction of the print cost.
- No more waiting lists or multiple copies to keep track of—the most popular books can be accessed simultaneously online
- Avoid theft—an electronic book can't "disappear."
- Remote access—researchers can access Safari Books Online from the library, or from any authenticated IP address outside the library.

Safari® Tech Books Online

Updated technology information, that's always available

Safari Tech Books Online is the premier digital library for programming and technology departments. Developers and administrators can search across thousands of reference books online—not just snippets, but entire books, from cover to cover. The collection covers more than 20 technical categories, and new books are added each month. Featuring over 7,000 titles, Safari Tech Books Online covers the most essential technologies, including certification, enterprise computing, Java, Linux/Unix, Web development, Windows, XML, and more. Researchers and technical teams get comprehensive and relevant answers quickly from across an entire collection of authoritative publications.

Most importantly, Safari Tech Books Online features electronic access to titles from trusted publishers such as O'Reilly Media and Pearson Group. Together, the two companies deliver well over half of all technology books published. You get to choose titles from over 20 imprints, including:

- Addison-Wesley Professional
- Adobe Press
- Cisco Press
- IBM Redbooks
- Microsoft Press
- New Riders
- Peachpit Press
- Prentice Hall Professional
- QUE
- Sams Publishing
- And more

Your staff will also benefit from the vast technical resources of Safari Books Online, available anytime and from anywhere, to solve engineering, design, or application problems.

Develop New Skills with Video-Based Training

Video content now available!

Customers with Safari Tech Books Online—either Current, Entire File, or Combo subscription models—can upgrade their package to include over 390 top-quality instructional videos. These comprehensive online training videos include topics like web design, software development, and graphics tools and techniques, along with training videos for software (such as Acrobat®, Illustrator®, Photoshop®, MacOS®X, Macromedia Dreamweaver®, Macromedia Flash®, Windows Vista® operating system, and Microsoft® Office).

Additional video content is being added on an ongoing basis. The videos reside on the Safari Books Online platform, can be cross-searched with other Safari content, and possess the same search functionality as the books. You can learn an entire application from start to finish, or skip to a specific topic or snippet, as opposed to watching the entire video. Each video is available in QuickTime®, Adobe® Flash®, and Windows Media® formats.

Acrobat, Illustrator, Flash, and Photoshop are trademarks of Adobe Systems Incorporated in the United States and/or other countries. Macromedia Dreamweaver and Macromedia Flash are registered trademarks of Macromedia, Inc. in the United States and/or other countries. Mac OS is a trademark of Apple Inc. Microsoft Office, Windows Vista, and Windows media are registered trademarks of Microsoft Corporation in the United States and/or other countries.

Safari Books Online

The power of search

With Safari Books Online, users can find exactly the information they need from a source they can trust, all in a fraction of the time they'd spend searching elsewhere. Its powerful search engine features:

- Searching by keyword, phrase, author, ISBN, publisher, or category.
- Hit lists of book chapters containing the search terms.
- Thumbnails of book covers in the hit list.
- Relevancy-ranked results for both books and terms.
- Keywords in context in the hit list.
- Cut-and-paste code fragments to save time and eliminate typos.

Browse like the print edition

Safari Books Online enables users to browse all of the books, just as they would books in print. Each title contains a complete table of contents with chapter links for easy page-to-page browsing. All charts, graphs, and other images are included just as originally published, ensuring that users get total access to the entire range of content offered in each title.

Linking from ABI/INFORM®

You can link from the world's foremost business journal database to top business monographs if your institution subscribes to both ABI/INFORM and Safari Business Books Online, allowing users to move straight from citation to full text, right down to the chapter level. Links can be enabled with no extra effort on the library's part. When users click on a link, the Safari chapter appears in a separate browser window, within the powerful Safari interface.

Safari Books Online also include:

- Diagrams to help you understand processes at a glance
- Codes which you can copy and paste into documents, saving time and eliminating errors
- Weblinks to authoritative, respected sources of further information
- Articles to high-quality content from authoritative external sources, including IBM

Easy Library Integration

Safari Books Online is easy to manage and integrate into a library collection, with:

- Seamless IP authentication or named user accounts*
- Ability to create links from your library's OPAC directly to books in your collection
- Usage reporting
- Remote access options
- Full MARC records

Safari Books Online offers a concurrent user model for public libraries, making it easy for you to provide Safari Books Online access to all users in the IP range of your library.

Simple Subscription Options

Pick and choose titles—even swap your books to keep costs down

With this model, you buy only the books and number of simultaneous users you need. Each book is allocated a number of slots, depending on recommended retail price and when it was published. Swap your books and stay up-to-date—without increasing subscription costs. You decide how many slots you need for your institution and which books you would like to subscribe to. You also have the option of exchanging books every month, or adding new books to your subscription at anytime.

Or great value, no-hassle access—to the whole collection, or current files

Alternatively, libraries can choose to subscribe to the Safari Tech Books Online or Safari Business Books Online whole or current files for a selected number of users.
